Presented at the Laguna Hills Community Center

Thursday, November 12, 2009

5-8pm

CABO has brought films of interest about birth to the community since our beginning. This fall we will host the Fall 2009 'Family Movie Night' and discussion where we will explore the significant impact that the media plays in the portrayal of pregnancy and birth. Join us for a Private Screening of:

Laboring Under an Illusion

By Vicki Elson, MA, CCE

Anthropologist Vicki Elson explores media-generated myths about childbirth. As a childbirth educator for 25 years, she observes daily how our culture affects our birth experiences. In this film, she contrasts fiction with reality. The result is hilarious, engaging, and enlightening.

"To understand what it's really like to have a baby, we have to debunk the silly and scary images served up by the profit-driven media. In reality, birth is hard work, sometimes simple, sometimes complicated, but always miraculous and unforgettable."
